The Vermont statutes state that no member of the general assembly shall hold the office of sheriff, but it was only by chance that the newly elected state's attorney of the county, A. V. D. A swindler who has worked in Vermont and several other states and who has been wanted for several years, was arrested in Greenfield, Mass., Wednesday, when Fred Koster, alias Mark A. Wendell and various other names, was recognized by Greenfield officers. The police of that city had received circulars from the Curtis Publishing company to the effect that a clever swindler was using the name of periodicals of the company in an effort to defraud the public and the description and photo of the man tallied with the man arrested. As soon as he left the train he proceeded to Main street and began to ply his trade and was arrested while so doing. He was convicted and sentenced to the house correction for two months. GIRLS' MILKING CONTEST.

An Event at the Vermont State Fair That Arouses Interest.

White River, Junction, Sept. 13,-The milking contest for girls which was such a great success at the Vermont state fair last year, is to again be a feature at the fair to be held on the state fair grounds Sept. 17, 18, 19 and 20. Much interest is shown in the event, a greater number of entries having been made than a year ago.

Arrangements have been made so that the crowds may the better witness the contest and prevent the crowding that took place last year. The cows to be milked will be selected by the committee from steck on exhibition. Each cow will have a number and they will be irawn by the contestants.

The time of the one finishing first will be taken as the standard, and all others will be cut one point for each minute longer, taken and will gain one point for each minute under time of first contestant. Also the weight of the milk by the one finishing first will se the standard and all others will be allowed one point for each pound over, or cut one point for each pound under the weight of milk obtained by the first contestant.

All cows must be milked out clean and five minutes after each contestant has finished, the committee will examine the udder of that cow, the milk if any found in the udder will determine the number of points to be cut.

The condition of each cow as to showing how carefully and easily the milking is done, to be considered by th committee, thus showing the skill of the milker. Nothing but dry handed milking allowed in any case.

The winner will be given $20, the second best $15, the third $10, the fourth $5, and the fifth $2.50.
